

Simple login screen. We need some sort of identifier for the employee to input, so they are linked to the correct company account.

Employee email / contact details should already be input into the back office. Employee just needs to select their profile and then add a password.

Either input new project name or select from existing list

Need simple UI & UX for onsite workers to capture the required information. Thinking of having project name at top and then the WhatsApp style input bar so pics, text or voice can be recorded to the project and then save the designated section. I.e. pictures at top, comments in the middle and then employees etc at the bottom.
